The situation for Premier Franco, after the assassination of the king and crown prince became impossible. During the days which preceded the tragedy and during the tumultuous manifestations on the streets, with the later discovery of vast stores of arms and bombs, public opinion backed him in his efforts to maintain order, but the murders changed the entire complexion of the situation. of $700,000 for a government exhibit at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, to be held in Seattle next year.

Mr. Piles paid a glowing tribute to the resources and developments of the northwest, both in respect to its agricultural interests and its commerce on the Pacific. He declared that the United States commerce on the Pacific is not what is should be, saying that Germany and Great Britain have paid more attention to that field of activity than have the United States. The exposition in behalf of which he spoke, he said, would promote interest in the great feature of American ascendancy on the Pacific.

Mr. Piles said the people and the state of Washington had contributed approach to the great exposition. He said the foreign exhibits at the exposition will be confined strictly to the product of nations bordering upon the Pacific ocean and directly interested in the development of the Pacific trade. The exposition will, he said, illustrate the wonderful mineral resources of Alaska, and will enable the United States to enter into trade relations with Asia and South America, and will increase commerce.

There is a persistent rumor about town among local horsemen to the effect that within a few months a new mile race track will be built. It is said that a number of wealthy men are interested in the scheme and that an organization has been formed for the purpose of building and operating the track during the summer months. An option has been secured, according to the rumor, on 120 acres of land near Beck's hot springs and the price for the property will reach nearly $30,000. A finagrand stand, stables, padocks and other buildings will be erected and transportation from the city to the race course will be arranged for.
